Last Try Made On EDC

PARIS (UP)—Former Premier Antoine Pinay launched an eleventh-hour attempt last night to save the European Defense Community Treaty by proposing that France agree to join in the pact on an 18-month trial basis.

Pinay, who is rated as the most likely candidate to succeed Premier Mendes-France if the present government falls on a vote of confidence over EDC, was reported to have American support for his plan, which he outlined at a midnight news conference.

"It is time to ratify, in our turn, the Treaty of Paris," he said, "after having tried once again—before the assembly debate if possible—for a final consultation with our allies."

COULD BE EXTENDED

"Such consultation would have as its object to ask them to agree to a probationary period for the application of the treaty."

"I would define this period as follows: A transitional period of 18 months called for in Article 10 of the military protocol should be considered a probationary period."

"At the end of this trial period, there would be called, on demand of one of the participating states, a conference which would have as its task to decide on the necessary modifications based on this experiment. The period of 18 months could then be extended," Pinay said.

At London, it was reported that Britain and France have agreed on the need for "early practical steps" to maintain Western unity despite the collapse of European army treaty negotiations in Brussels.

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France flew to England Monday and conferred urgently for five hours with Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden.

A brief statement issued before Mendes-France flew home said "a general discussion" was held on the unresolved differences at Brussels between France and the other five countries of the proposed European Defense Community.

Cement Plant For B.C.

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor
A second cement manufacturing plant is about to be built in British Columbia.

The installation will cost about $5,000,000 and will be situated in the Fraser Valley some 15 miles east of Chilliwack.

Ralph Chetwynd, minister of trade and industry, says that "Texan interests are involved and that the plant is expected to begin production May 1."

It will employ between 60 and 100 people, and raw material will be obtained from B.C. deposits of limestone.

The only cement at present being made in B.C. is at the Bamberton works of B.C. Cement Co. on Vancouver Island.

NEW YORK (AP)—A Bronx Monday trapped a inside a cab no bigger than a telephone booth.

Motorman David Moclair, 52, was finally cut out of the telescoped steel of his forward car at the cost of his left foot. It

Prizes Loaded on Derby Winner

Bob Earl of Brentwood was loaded down with trophies after topping all other contestants in the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association's ladder derby fish-off on Sunday. Earl, who caught this 39-pound, two-ounce beauty shortly after deciding to try an old rusted spoon from his tackle collection, received the Household Finance

Trophy for catching the largest fish of the derby and Woodward's Trophy, held by Mrs. Earl, for the biggest salmon of the fish-off. He also won the main prize, a 17-foot convertible cruiser, with outboard motor. (See other pictures, Page 8, and story, Page 9.)

World Council Delegate

Hungarian Bishop Branded Informer for Communists

NEW YORK (UP)—A pastor who fled from Communist Hungary testified Monday that a Hungarian bishop attending the world council of churches meeting at Evanston, Ill., has been a Communist informer for years.

The Rev. Laszlo Vatai told a congressional investigating committee he "assumed" Bishop John Peter was sent by his government to the meeting to spy on other churchmen in the Hungarian delegation and report on their activities to the secret police.

Vatai said the other delegates were chosen to attend the meeting because of their willingness to collaborate with the Red Hungarian government, but of officials apparently want to check up on them anyway.

Escaped from Reds
Vatai, speaking in broken English, told the House Committee on Communist aggression that he escaped from the Reds in 1947 and fled to the West. He now is pastor of the Hungarian reformed church at Buffalo, N.Y.

The witness said Peter, a bishop of the reformed church of Hungary, was an informer in Budapest for some time before 1947. He said he knew Peter in Hungary.

At Evanston, Bishop Peter said Monday he believes Christianity can "co-exist" with Communism. But he denied being a Communist or ever "informing" on other clergymen.

The bishop of the Hungarian Reformed Church submitted written answers to a group of questions drawn up by newsmen covering the World Council's second assembly.

Under terms of a restricted visa from the state department, Bishop Peter was forbidden to take part in one of the council's formal press conferences.

In England, a parish priest of the Church of England attacked the World Council of Churches for taking a "sick-room" approach to Communism.

"The World Council of Churches has never disturbed Communists and fellow travelers, and maybe it has never disturbed anyone," the Rev. Reginald C. Gaul said in his sermon Sunday.

Army Supports Vargas in Crisis

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Embattled Brazilian President Getulio Vargas sat tight Monday, supported by the army in the face of air force demands that he resign.

The long-drawn-out controversy over the killing of air force Major Ruben Vaz, in which members of the presidential guard were allegedly implicated, flared up into what looked like a showdown. Vaz was apparently accidentally shot down in an unsuccessful attempt on the life of Carlos Lacerda, a newspaper editor who opposes Vargas' regime.

The crisis developed Sunday after a meeting of air force general officers led by Lieut. Gen. Eduardo Gomes, titular head of the National Democratic Union, the chief political opposition to Vargas. Gomes was twice an unsuccessful presidential candidate.

The radio quoted Vargas as saying: "I will not resign. I was elected by the people for five years and I will fulfill my constitutional duties to the end."

For part of Sunday night the guard around the presidential palace where Vargas resides was doubled.

Waz Minister Zenobio Costa was quoted as saying on the radio Monday the army is master of the situation. He appealed to the people not to be influenced by rumors and said the army will guarantee respect for the constitution.

Radio stations were operating under censorship which apparently was general. Federal police chief Paulo Torres said the control was imposed as a matter of national security.

ATHENS—Fifteen pigs, roasted on spits over burning vine tree branches, were carried aboard the Greek luxury liner Agamemnon at Corfu Monday to be served at the first Greek meal for 95 members of Europe's throned and dethroned Royal families on their Mediterranean tour.

The Greek island was the first stop made by the royal tourists, from Greece, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Holland and several European countries now republics. The party left Naples Sunday.

Former King Umberto of Italy joined the party with his family at Corfu after flying from Athens in a private plane owned by King Paul of Greece, host on the tour.

Next stop for the white liner on this all-royal cruise of the islands and archeological treasures of Greece is Katakalon—Olympia. The voyagers sailed from Corfu Monday night.

Most of the sailing will be done at night.

Five Tots Burn

WATERVILLE, Me. (UP)—A weeping father, his hands and face burned in a futile rescue attempt, stood helplessly by Monday while a flash fire swept his home and killed his five children, the oldest seven years old.

"They're all gone, all gone, all gone," 27-year-old Richard Vashon sobbed after the flames had driven him away.

His wife, Doris, returned home from her night shift job in a textile plant to find the home in flames and her children dead. Firemen had to restrain her forcibly to keep her from trying to climb a ladder to the still-burning second-floor bedroom where terrified little faces had been pressed against the window pane only minutes before.

FORCED BACK

Vashon and two neighbors tried to save the children but were forced back by the flames. The youngsters were Patricia, 7, Daniel, 6, Judith, 5, Stephen, 3, and Ann, 15 months. Patricia had herded the others into her room after the fire broke out and they all perished together. Four were huddled on the floor near a window. The fifth was on a bed.

Firemen said the fire was caused by a defective wire in a closet.

Vashon was asleep on the first floor when the fire broke out. Within minutes he was driven from the house.

GIRL GIVES ALARM

"I was just putting the empty milk bottles out on the back porch," said a neighbor, "when I heard my daughter hollering from the front room. There's a fire next door."

"I ran over, climbed up the porch to the second floor and broke open the back bedroom window," the neighbor said. "I knew right then it was no use. All this smoke just poured out on me."

"I couldn't see the kids or anything. It was just as though there was a lot of pressure inside and the smoke got pushed out."

"Right after I got there firemen arrive with one of those lung gadgets and tried to get in. They were very fast. But it was just no use."

Quake Rolls California

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A strong rolling earthquake shook the San Francisco Bay area at 10:54 p.m. yesterday, causing downtown office buildings to roll "like a ship at sea."

In Sacramento, 100 miles north, the "quake" was called the strongest in four years.

Lights in the state capital flickered and chandeliers swung back and forth.

There were no immediate reports of damage.

Washington (AP)—Aviation Week magazine said Monday two meteors have become satellites of the earth and are revolving with it 400 to 600 miles out in space.

The publication said discovery of the celestial bodies "threw the air force into a flap"—a state of confusion—this summer.

It said alarm over the sightings ended only after Dr. Lincoln La Paz, head of the extra-terrestrial bodies institute at the University of New Mexico, definitely identified them as natural rather than man-made.

During the day the guests will visit places of interest, swim, dance and play games.

King Paul, the host, started the cruise with a bang when the destroyer that brought him and Queen Frederika to Naples crashed into a pier.

Nobody was hurt and the king and queen laughed at their accident as they joined the other rulers and ex-rulers.

Among those absent was former King Farouk of Egypt. It was not known whether he had been invited. No members of the British Royal Family were aboard.

King Paul decreed informality as the theme of the pleasure cruise, suggesting that nobody wear uniform or formal dress, but made an exception in allowing his uncle, Prince George, to wear his admiral's uniform.

At dinner, King Paul announced, the men will be permitted to wear white shirts, black trousers and summerbunds.

The women were admonished, however, not

Wide Manhunt On For Victoria Man After Daring Break

Dawley Dashes to Freedom While Under Prison Escort

The most intensive manhunt in recent B.C. history was in progress early today as police on Vancouver Island and the Mainland searched for Clifford Dawley, former Victorian, who escaped from prison yesterday for the second time in six months.

A general alarm has been issued to all Island police forces to be on the lookout for the fugitive.

The 44-year-old Dawley broke out of Oakalla late yesterday afternoon when a group of prisoners was being escorted under guard from the exercise yard to the cells.

Dawley was serving a six-month sentence for a previous escape March 8 from the Vancouver General Hospital. He was recently questioned by Seattle FBI investigators in connection with a bank holdup and murder in that city.

He made his second dash for freedom as the group of prisoners passed a fence at the prison farm. A guard spotted him as he was escaping and turned in the alarm.

Every available police officer in Vancouver, Burnaby, New Westminster and other points was immediately pressed into the search.

RCMP roadblocks have been set up on all major highways out of Vancouver.

Dawley was originally charged last March with assaulting a police officer at Duncan. He was awaiting trial on two charges of car theft and one of possession of house-breaking tools in Nanaimo, where police said they would lay an habitual criminal charge.

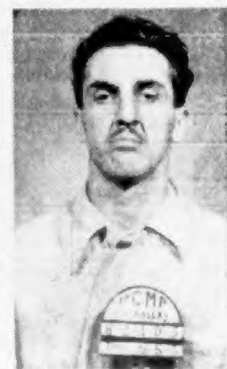

His earlier break was made March 8 when he leaped from an upper story window of Vancouver General Hospital. He had been taken to hospital from Oakalla—where he was serving a six-month term on the assault charge—after pleading a sore back.

He was arrested in Montreal last July and returned to Vancouver, where he was given an extra six months for escaping.

Dawley, son of a former Esquimalt police chief, was a noted "badman" in this area during the early 1930s.

He was involved in a gun battle with Victoria police in 1932 and was later shot in the arm during a gun fight with San Francisco police.

When he was brought back from Montreal, FBI investigators asked that he be placed in

CLIFFORD DAWLEY

With Attlee Party

Behind Scenes Talks Reported

The following story was written for Associated Press by the correspondent for the London Daily Telegraph accompanying the British Labor Party visiting Red China.

BY JOHN RIDLEY

PEIPING (AP)—High-level talks on Far Eastern security are reported going on behind the scenes here among Britain's former prime minister Clement Attlee, Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, and Indian Ambassador Nedom Raghavan.

These talks are apart from numerous public functions for the visiting Labor party group headed by Attlee.

China is convinced Attlee will be the next British prime minister.

Peiping is said to have suggested to him that instead of the West's proposed South-East Asian Treaty Organization (SEATO), there should be a mutual non-aggression pact among China, Britain, France and the Colombo powers.

The five countries represented at the Colombo, Ceylon, conference this spring were India, Pakistan, Burma, Ceylon and Indonesia.

India, while agreeing with China that such a pact would be desirable, fears some of the more timid nations among the Colombo powers might not wish to sign such a binding undertaking and has suggested a series of bilateral pacts among these powers. The effect would be precisely the same.

It is obvious from the press that the Chinese government is thoroughly alarmed at the idea of SEATO and will endeavor at all costs to torpedo it.

Plane Crash in Sea Claims at Least 21

AMSTERDAM (AP)—A Royal Dutch KLM airliner with at least 21 persons aboard plunged into the North Sea off the murky Dutch coastline Monday only a few minutes away from its home airport.

A KLM spokesman said it was feared there were no survivors among the 12 passengers and nine crew members aboard.

Crew members were Dutch except Canadian Flight Capt. Charles Harman. Born in Edmonton in 1918, the one-time member of the RAF joined KLM in 1947.

KLM said he was a most able airman who last year was given the honor of flying KLM's first Super Constellation from New York to Amsterdam.

EXTRA FLIGHT
The airline said the four-engined Douglas DC-6B Willem Rontekoe went down through the clouds less than 30 miles northwest of Amsterdam, its goal. The KLM office in New York said the plane was an extra because the earlier regular flight was booked up.

Burning wreckage, lifebelts, cushions, an oil stain and other flotsam marked the site of the crash.

The jet crashed into a farmer's field near this village 23 miles east of Toronto and a test pilot for Avro, suffered a broken leg when he landed less than 300 yards from the jet's scattered wreckage. An ejection seat-parachute escape was credited with saving his life.

The jet was undergoing its first test since coming off the assembly line of Avro's Malton plant, 15 miles northwest of Toronto.

The victim was identified by A. V. Roe Canada Ltd. officials as John Hiebert, 28, of Toronto, a flight test observer. Hiebert is survived by his widow in Toronto and parents in Winnipeg.

Zurakowski, Polish-born ace of the Battle of Britain in the Second World War and a test pilot for Avro, suffered a broken leg when he landed less than 300 yards from the jet's scattered wreckage. An ejection seat-parachute escape was credited with saving his life.

Vicar's Treat

ANDOVER, England (AP)—The Rev. Machin, vicar of Andover has just booked 15 seats for the Folies Bergere in Paris.

He is taking a party of his parishioners there for a holiday.

"The Folies," he said, "are part of the life of Paris so naturally we shall want to see them."

minor subway crash in the motorman for seven hours was amputated to free him. His condition is critical.

The empty subway train crashed through a track end, entombing the motorman in a rigid vise of crushed steel. For hours he withstood agonizing pain, able to move only a hand.

TORCHES CUT WAY
"How long will it be?" Moclair pleaded at intervals, as 35 rescue workers cut toward him with acetylene torches. Water was played over the car to cut down the heat.

Moclair's face was contorted with pain. Perspiration bathed his face as his torture extended hour upon hour.

His wife, Mary, arrived at the scene and burst into tears when she perceived his ordeal. One of his four children, John, 16, was allowed close enough to pass words of encouragement to Moclair.

Lawn Mowing Without Tears

BY M. V. CHESNUT, F.H.S.

I am still struggling along behind my little English hand mower, with no hope of switching over to a big rotary power mower until there is some unexpected upturn in the Chesnut fortunes. I am beginning to get the hang of this little mower, though, and it is a lot less effort than it was at first.

For one thing, every time I cut the lawn now, I always oil the mower first, and put a thin film of grease with my finger along the striking surface of the stationary blade. This makes all the difference in the world to the amount of "push" required to do the job, and the little mower just purrs like a sewing machine.

TOO STIFF

I found, too, that in order to get a good clean cut, I was trying to run the thing with the rotary blades pressing too hard against the stationary blade. It was just like a stiff pair of scissors—it required far too much work to get any cutting done. Nowadays, I keep the stationary blade backed off until the rotating blades just barely touch it. There are a couple of screws at each end of the mower to adjust this clearance, and it is necessary to get the blade aligned evenly along its whole length, which I do by pushing bits of paper between the blades at various positions along its length to see how it cuts them.

If the adjustment is too tight, there is too much friction and too much work. If it is too loose, the mower doesn't cut cleanly, leaving ridges in your mowing.

By checking the adjustment every couple of weeks, I've had some unexpected dividends. First, because the cut is so clean and even, I don't have to overlap the cut swaths by more than an inch or two, and I get the whole job done in a lot fewer trips across the lawn. Again, because the little mower operates so smoothly and is so easy to push, the whole family wants to get in on the act. Taking a tip from Tom Sawyer, I am allowing them to cut portions of the lawn as a special reward for having done some of the less interesting jobs, such as clipping the edges.

BETTER TURF

There is another advantage which I hesitate to mention, as I am none too sure of my facts. But I am developing a suspicion that the treatment my grass is getting from our little mower is slowly producing a better turf than my neighbors' with their rotary power mowers. This isn't sour grapes—I still think the principle of the rotary mower is sound—but when you cut your lawn with a motor doing all the heavy labor, there just isn't the incentive to keep things adjusted to the highest peak of efficiency.

Children Do Well With Puppet Party

BY BERT BINNY

The first in two series of one-act plays opened at the Victoria Summer School of Theatre yesterday evening.

In "The Puppet Party" all the participants were between the ages of nine and 12 and, despite their years, they did very creditably. Of the six pieces present, the scene and the costumes were outstanding.

The last play was "The Admiral's Daughter." Seeing that all except one of the characters were of about the same age, status and so on, this production was again notable for individual differentiations.

Dianna Deane, as Anne, was occasionally hard to hear but she acted beautifully. Sharon Flows as "Midge" was also excellent.

Other participants in the series were: Valerie Caldwell, Pat Godspeed and Shari Miller were outstanding.

"The Terrible Meek" was directed by student director Miss May Craycroft. The production generally seemed too static. Vera Stewart turned in a very fine performance and so did Anthony Churchill. More variety in Larry Tickner's intentions would have helped.

This was a very hard play, creditably attempted.

A. A. Milne's "The Princess and the Woodcutter" was very entertaining. There was pleasant variety in characterizations.

Acting Reeve To Seek Facts In Saanich Substation Dispute

Acting Reeve George Austin is digging for facts in the battle between Saanich municipality and the British Columbia Electric Co. over a proposed Shelbourne Street substation.

He will ask the Public Utilities Commission if it can throw light on the relative costs of overhead and underground wiring.

A meeting of the council and representatives of Saanich Voters' Association and the Town Planning Commission agreed last night that compromise is out of the question.

E. W. Arnott, BCE vice-president, flatly told them last week that his company will not pay an estimated $916,000 to sink a transmission line underground.

BCE planned an overhead line at a cost of about $240,000.

Saanich residents protested against this at a public hearing and insisted that the line be underground. They claimed property values would drop if towers and line were strung across Saanich.

The company's option on the substation site expires in about three weeks. Saanich council would have to decide the property before building could start.

Opinion was expressed that if question would go to the Public Utilities Commission.

Saanich Voters' Association representatives said they felt the company had not provided all the information about the scheme.

The association members put 23 suggestions before last night's meeting.

Acting Reeve Austin said he would approach the PUC for an appointment with regard to the facts.

Officials Probing U.S. Plane Crash

MASON CITY, Iowa (UP)—Officials of the Civil Aeronautics Board Monday began investigating the crash of a Braniff Airways plane which went down in an oilfield killing 11 or 19 persons aboard.

The plane's landing gear was down and the DC3 was only 10 minutes from the Mason City airport when it roared into the ground at the height of a storm.

Two of the passengers remained in critical condition as Braniff and CAB officials examined wreckage strewn over a 500-yard area.

One official said he thought the plane, which did not burn, was forced down by "air turbulence" as the pilot groped for a landing here. He said if the pilot had been attempting an emergency landing he would have raised the landing gear and tried to bring her in on the belly.

Keep TLC Clear Of Political Ties, Bengough Advises

REGINA (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada was told by its chief Monday to steer clear of political alliances.

The advice to Canada's largest labor body—580,000 members—came from 12-year-old Percy R. Bengough as he delivered his 12th presidential address to the TLC's annual convention, preparatory to retiring.

Basic Right Taken Away, Says Hall

REGINA (CP)—Railway workers have been deprived of an elementary freedom in submitting their contract dispute with the railways to arbitration, union leader Frank H. Hall of Montreal said Monday.

Speaking to the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in Regina, Hall said the rail settlement procedure worked out at Ottawa last week may be the thin end of the wedge for many thousands of workers apart from the 145,000 rail union men directly affected.

The unions agreed to arbitration, Hall said, only after it had been made plain parliament would legislate for compulsory arbitration if they did not call off strike plans.

RESOLUTION DUE
The convention's normal business was suspended to hear about the issue. The TLC resolutions committee will be asked to bring in a resolution dealing with the matter.

Jack Bruce of Toronto, international representative of the Plumbers' Union, said the rail procedure was "an outrageous violation by the government of the freedom of workers."

"It lays the foundation for establishing compulsory arbitration generally, almost bringing us to a Fascist state," he declared.

Hall said the railwaymen have been deprived of a basic freedom.

"We think," he said, "it is less important that the railways be tied up for six months than that one man of the railways be made to work against his will."

Slaying Planned, N.Z. Court Told

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (Reuters)—Two teen-aged girls heard a prosecutor tell a court here Monday the death of the mother of one of them was murder "premeditated by two dirty-minded little girls."

Pauline Parker, 16, pleaded not guilty with Juliet Hulme, 15, to killing Mrs. Honora Mary Parker, 45, June 22 with a brick wrapped in a stocking.

Prosecutor A. W. Brown told the court the two schoolmates developed an intense friendship for each other.

He read a statement alleged to have been made by Juliet, which said she was due to go to South Africa with her father July 3 and Pauline wanted to go with her.

DERRY, England (CP)—The post office is not pleased over a citizen's complaint that a letter he posted was delivered at the town hall an hour later. Officials said it was too quick, and wanted to know why it didn't go through the normal channels.

'Safety' Author Dies

ATLANTIC, Iowa (UP)—Raymond A. Eastman, 30, Des Moines advertising man and author of the widely-distributed safety pamphlet "Ten Seconds to Live," died Sunday after his 1951 Jaguar hit a bridge abutment.

Eastman's widely-distributed article described the thoughts of a man about to be killed in a traffic accident.

"He pushed his sleeve back, held his wrist close to the lighted speedometer, squinted to read the time. A little after 9. Five, 10 minutes after. Ought to be home in half an hour."

live, he might have checked the time more closely. He might have done several things differently.

"Nine seconds to live—he'd driven almost eight hours since lunch, and was beginning to feel it."

"Eight seconds to live—lousy driving in the rain. Light from your headlights just seems to soak in along with the water."

"Three seconds to live—something looked wrong, through the blurry windshield. A tentative dab at the brake stiffened into desperate pressure as he made out an old, unlighted, slow-moving truck ahead."

"Two seconds to live—panic moved in. Turn to the left. No, car coming. Headlights too close. Can't make it. Turn to the right."

"One second to live—horns blared, everything into slow motion. He was floating right into the rear corner of the truck bed. He opened his mouth to scream.

"No seconds to live."

Parking Ticket Ruins Practice

Doctor Prefers Mau-Mau 'Peace' To Running Afoul of Canada Law

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Manitoba doctor said Monday that a parking ticket has cost him his practice and that he will quit Canada for "some place like the Mau Mau country where one can live in relative safety."

Dr. Dennis Harmer of Swan River said that ever since he saw the inside of a jail through what he calls a mix-up over the parking ticket, his patients have stopped calling. He said he will leave Swan River as soon as he finds a buyer for his house and other assets.

Dr. Harmer was visiting Winnipeg when he overparked his car on a Winnipeg street May 10.

SENT CHEQUES
He said in a telephone interview that in succeeding weeks he twice mailed cheques to the Winnipeg police court but that both cheques were returned. One was too small because an intervening summons had raised the costs, he said. The other lacked 15 cents exchange.

Then, he said, he was arrested at Swan River and driven the 230 miles back to Winnipeg. He said he was jailed and then released after putting up costs.

The doctor returned to Swan River, Friday, and he said, decided his practice could not survive "the humiliation and publicity involved."

There hadn't been a single caller since his return. The general public had seen him in police custody and "that sort of thing just kills a practice."

Where will he go? Dr. Harmer said that some months ago he was offered a medical health officer's post in Brazil and plans to see if the job is still open. Before coming to Manitoba, Dr. Harmer lived for a time in Kenya.

Canadian Observer Raps Students, Union

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Canadian and British students have attacked the International Union of Students from a Moscow platform as a body whose only criterion is "the policy set by the Communist party."

Speaking as observers at a council meeting of the IUS, leaders of the Canadian and British delegations described the organization as "biased, unrepresentative and partisan."

The president of the National Federation of Canadian University Students, Tony Enriquez, a Mexican studying in Canada, said the Western protest about membership "has been represented by unprincipled individuals to be an attempt to exclude certain colonial or underdeveloped countries."

Frank Copplestone, president-elect of the British National Union of Students said: "We still believe the IUS to be principally a Communist body working among students."

He declared the union invariably follows the line "set by the Communist party and affiliated bodies." Its criticisms are "directed exclusively against non-Communist countries, while Communist countries are mentioned only the organization as "biased, unrepresentative and partisan."

FOR upwards of a year a Scandinavian airline has been test-flying a north polar air route from Norway through to Los Angeles. This has been one of the first serious efforts of the kind on the civilian, non-military side of aviation. The result is coming now: A series of final month by month tests is to be made across the north polar sea by the co-operation of three European nations with the consent of Canada and United States. If all goes well, this is to be followed in November of this year by the first scheduled operations over what is geographically the flying hub of the northern hemisphere.

From a Canadian standpoint this will bring Edmonton into the front rank of the world's international airports, a result which has long been predicted. Nor is the reason difficult to grasp. The scheduled operations when they get under way will link Copenhagen, western Greenland, Edmonton and Los Angeles in a straight line air route between 400 and 500 miles shorter than any other route that can be charted. The shortening of the distance by two to three hours at cruising speeds is in itself an important economic factor. In addition, initial test flights have shown that the north polar sea is no more difficult to traverse by air than the Atlantic Ocean. Its bogeys are more imagined than real.

Given a settled state of affairs in the world this pioneering venture may prove to be the beginning of a new era in trans-oceanic flight. While Sweden, Norway and Denmark are combined in the present venture, it is no secret that observers on the North American continent are watching the tests with all possible interest. If Scandinavian lands and Canada can be linked in this fashion, so too almost every capital in western Europe can be brought within closer, cheaper and more convenient reach. The trans-polar sea lies nearly athwart some 15 routes that can be drawn between the main capitals of the western hemisphere.

The implications are vast. Given a stable world, aviation may find itself in the van of tremendous development. As the distance across the polar sea, some 2,200 miles, is the same everywhere within the Arctic Circle, London, Paris, Rome, Zurich, as well as Oslo, Copenhagen and Stockholm are all closer together than had been demonstrated previously. In point of fact some 4,500 airline miles from source to destination would span most of the intra-capital distances in the world; with the exception of the Asian seaboard and parts of the eastern hemisphere. This stems from the fact that the main land masses of the earth are grouped for the most part around the Arctic Circle. Canada has a ringside seat in this great new arena.

Job for a Commission

WHILE on a tour of the northeastern part of the province recently, Premier Bennett gave it as his personal opinion, which he is fully entitled to express, that the Peace River country deserved two seats in the legislature instead of one. Political opponents promptly seized on the premier's remark, publicly interpreting it as an attempt on his part to dictate a course of action to the legislative committee on redistribution, of which he was not a member. It was a petulant and groundless criticism, but it has served to bring to light an important fact: that there is no committee on redistribution in existence.

Just prior to prorogation of the last session, the committee reported progress to the House and recommended that it be allowed to continue working between sessions. The House formally "received" the report and left it at that. Mr. Speaker Irwin has now ruled that because receipt of the report was not accompanied by a resolution for its adoption the committee was dissolved when the House prorogued. This means that a new committee will have to be constituted when the legislature meets again next year, unless the government changes its policy in the meantime.

The situation thus created strengthens the argument that the premier would have been better advised to entrust study of the problems of redistribution to an independent commission, headed preferably by a senior member of the judiciary. The now defunct committee threw up its hands after accomplishing precisely nothing. There is little reason to believe that a new committee could do much better, because the job is too big to be done properly by any group of members in the limited time they can afford to spend on it while the House is in session.

In this province redistribution if it is to be effected realistically entails something far more than a few minor readjustments here and there. In almost two decades since the subject was last tackled representation in the legislature has got absurdly out of balance so far as the distribution of population formula alone is concerned; besides which the whole character of many of the 48 ridings has changed, and other elements not present 20 years ago have been introduced. What is needed to bring about a practical allotment of seats is not so much a revision of what now exists as a brand new start without regard for politics in the partisan sense.

It is a complex problem demanding long and impartial study. A committee of the House in the limited time at its disposal could do little better than patchwork. Only an independent commission, free from the pressures which those elected to the House as candidates of political parties can scarcely hope to escape, could perform the task thoroughly.

Very Welcome Visitors

THE arrival at Quebec of the Duchess of Kent and her daughter Princess Alexandra at the beginning of a three weeks' visit in eastern Canada is the kind of a precedent that Canadians will view with hearty approval. As guests of Governor-General Massey at Rideau Hall, the Duchess had already been formally welcomed on the part of the nation. In one of her first public appearances, at Quebec's city hall, she graciously expressed her pleasure at starting the tour at the historic and beautiful city of Quebec.

The late King George and Queen Mother Elizabeth paid Canada a never to be forgotten visit at the beginning of this country's closer association with the Royal Household. The young Queen Elizabeth II and her consort the Duke of Edinburgh cemented that understanding, and have now extended it to a considerable section of the Commonwealth. The Duke of Edinburgh's informal visit last month to the British Empire Games at Vancouver, with time out for a first-hand look at many of the out-of-the-way places on Canada's frontiers; and now the visit of the Duchess of Kent and Princess Alexandra on a very similar plane have established a custom which all Canadians will hope will endure.

Interpreting the News

One Embarrassing Question?

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

INDICATIONS are that the chief result of the French premier's post-Brussels visit to Winston Churchill was to give Britain a report on what had happened at the six-nation conference, rather than to institute any important new negotiations regarding the European Defense Community.

That was the nature of Premier Mendes-France's meeting at Brussels with the American ambassador to Paris and the pattern seems likely to have been preserved at Chartwell.

The French leader, however, may have asked Churchill one important and embarrassing question:

If the other five members of EDC would accept his proposed loose arrangement provided Britain became a member, would Britain act?

Britain has, during all the three years of negotiation over EDC, rejected any such idea. There is an ironic recognition that some of the changes Mendes-France has sought, against the urgings of the United States and Britain, would be the very things the United States and Britain would want if they were contemplating membership.

This applies especially to the veto right which France seeks, and which has achieved for her so much Anglo-American criticism for weakening the supranational nature of the European community.

EDC now appears to be dead, although there are some optimists like West German Chancellor Adenauer who profess the belief that the French Parliament will not finally reject a program which has been so long on the making and so generally agreed upon.

The "Europeanists," despairing of EDC, are already talking about going ahead toward European unity through expansion of the supranational coal and steel community idea into other business fields and into agriculture. Originally, that had been expected to follow integration of EDC and coal and steel under a supranational council.

Defense is the one great incentive for all approaches to community in Europe. Nine years at Benelux have shown that business community, sought as an end in itself, lacking an effort to progress toward political and military unity, is neither easy of achievement nor very important.

OLIVE-BRANCH CURTAIN

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sea—
ing wax—of cabbages and kings

By TOM TAYLOR

PERHAPS I should make this but a brief encounter this morning, since I plan at the bottom of the column to bid you a brief adieu and my vacation thoughts are racing ahead and thus rather confusing my pen. On the other hand, notwithstanding and no matter my intentions, I must reach the bottom willy-nilly which is perhaps not such a bad thing either. Santayana it was, I notice, who said that as man is now constituted to be brief is to be inspired, which is simply another way of saying he would run on for ever if he were not rudely stopped, as for instance by the limit imposed by typographical make-up.

Brevity in any case has long since lost its wit, therefore its soul, as a lawyer once reminded me when he showed me his brief. He had drawn it himself but only on completion were his eyes opened and he saw that in truth it was not a brief at all but very long. As long almost as "From Here to Eternity," a novel which takes one precisely in that direction. So you see it is impossible for the male to be short, crisp and compact, more especially when he knows his prologue will far outrun his story or when he has no story at all.

If you doubt that in the full flood of his magnificent obsessions—hobby-horses in less lengthy English—home would make Tennyson envious, listen for a while at the radio wherein man enjoys a gargantuan talkfest never dreamt of in days when talk was face-to-face and not in absentia as it were. Few ladies there are seemingly able to push the male microphone aside and this is said without prejudice to radio announcers for what else is yours truly doing at this moment but ditto with his typewriter, not having voice or rather TIE voice suitable for the second junior of our communicative systems. And anyway what a world this would be if we were all dumb, meaning by that the lack of vocal chords only; in other words that I need not elaborate perhaps we were born to that condition.

Were we not to cite one more example of brevity in reverse, there could not surely be the thunder-striking spectacle of international conferences from which emits a stream of lava that would shame Vesuvius but, I fear, do little much else. And this because of the besetting sin of longitudinal speech which knows no meridian. At the best too, be it noted with some concern, of delegates who write Mr. and not Mrs. before their names. No wonder Santayana gave up in despair.

But do not you give up for I am hearing my own meridian, even though undoubtedly you have guessed before reaching this paragraph that on the eve of departure I am merely filling lines for the compositor to set. You would be wrong, albeit of course he will set them and his make-up colleague will cry when he has had all he wants: "Hold: enough." I am by design demonstrating the difficulty homo has in saying even so simple a thing as adieu; but with propriety now let us remember the lost soul of brevity—and cut it short. Cheerio, for a little while, my readers.

Reports from Ottawa

ONE of the rarest phrases in news stories from Ottawa is that "Prime Minister St. Laurent told a press conference here today." As a newspaperman, I regret the PM doesn't hold weekly, or at least frequent, press conferences. If he did, the public would be better informed on the government's views and intentions. This is important because a well-informed electorate is a prerequisite to that intelligent expression of public opinion which should be the government's guide.

Despite this, the PM calls press conferences only, as he once put it, "when I feel I have something to say." In practice that means something of first-rate importance, such as dissolution of Parliament, the date of a general election, or changes in the cabinet.

The PM doesn't limit reporters' questions to matters he raises. However, the reporters' eagerness to get away to write their stories about the PM's announcements is not conducive to the kind of searching questions and illuminating answers covering many phases of government activities which regular press conferences would permit.

St. Laurent's disinclination to face the press—which he shares with most members of his government—handicaps correspondents, the public, the administration and the PM personally.

It's true that the PM has reaped grief from some of his press conferences, particularly those he held in the Far East during his world tour, when he was quoted as indicating Canada might recognize Red China. He had to explain that away when he returned to Parliament.

More recently, India has quoted St. Laurent, for propaganda purposes in its dispute with Portugal over the future of Goa and other Portuguese colonies on the Indian sub-continent. The PM had been asked in his New Delhi conference if NATO partners were bound to take action in situations involving overseas colonies. He replied in the negative. But if he had realized he was answering an apparently planted question, he might have explained that under Article 4 of the NATO treaty the partners would be involved, although not bound to take military action.

No president pulled more press conference boners than Eisenhower did at the start. Now he handles his press meetings with ease and confidence. With his legal and parliamentary training the PM could learn to do the same, and garner the advantages to public, party and self which Quebec's Premier Duplessis shows he appreciates by holding weekly press conferences.

In Lester Pearson the PM has the only federal minister who has mastered the press conference technique. Pearson's press meetings are greatly appreciated by news correspondents. Whether Pearson speaks on the record, or merely backgrounds the reporters on a don't-quote-me-basis, it all helps to keep Canadians better informed.

The only adverse criticism of ministerial press conferences of which I'm aware was, oddly enough, in the editorial columns of an Ottawa newspaper. The complaint was that this "American innovation" was foreign to our British parliamentary system—in which ministers answer questions in Parliament—and therefore undesirable.

But Americans have good ideas sometimes. And an idea which nourishes the democratic expression of opinion on public affairs shouldn't be looked askance because the British didn't think of it first.

Canadian Accent

(From The Toronto Telegram)

ACCENT was a term originally used by early Greek grammarians for the musical tonality which characterized their language. In all languages there are two kinds of accent, musical pitch and emphatic stress. Has Canada either of these? Has her language musical tonality? The answer to this must surely be in the affirmative, though not many of our friends abroad would add musical as a descriptive adjective to the Canadian tongue.

Musical pitch and emphatic stress depend on the situation under discussion. If the wife is using her powers of suasion, her mellifluous flow of the tongue is certainly pitched musically. In refusing her advances the husband's as certainly employs emphatic stress. Thus the difference may only be one of sex.

Syngman Rhee has launched a campaign to simplify Korean spelling. And what better place to start than with that "h" in his own name?

In some cities, awards are being given pedestrians who cross streets carefully. In Edmonton if you get across a street at all, it proves you are careful.

In a discussion on women's styles in a quiz show, an elderly man was and circumstance, and not a Canadian monopoly.

Many mix accent with pronunciation, which encyclopedias class as an acoustic phenomenon. It could hardly be held that the Canadian brogue is a phenomenon, though that of many of our friends may be. But Canadian pronunciation is certainly developing in an individualistic way. It is true that Scots, Welsh and Irish brogues from the British Isles can be detected under the surface in many cases, but these are only some of the four and twenty blackbirds baked in the Canadian pie which give it a special flavor and differentiate it from the twang of some of our U.S. neighbors. They can call our city Trono, and the English Turunto, but Torontonians prefer their special brand of Traunta.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

THE WORST feature of a poor meal in a restaurant is that it cheats you out of a good meal. You have to start to eat it before you discover it is poor. And having started, you feel under some sort of contract to go ahead with it. Few of us are old-fashioned and snortily enough to create a scene by shoving our dinner away from us, refusing to pay the check and stomping out of the restaurant.

But actually there is no contract. It might do our modern commercial restaurant trade some good if a few Victorians or Edwardians among us staged a few scenes. The production of cooked vittles has become industrialized, standardized, commercialized. Food tastes pretty much the same in every eating place along the street, from the big, hotel down to the lunch counter. Even the self-styled epicure restaurants find it unprofitable to stray too far away from the standardized flavors, seasonings and styles of cooking thoroughly established by their less pretentious rivals up and down the street.

It is undoubtedly our own fault. We take on a tankful of food the way we take on a tankful of gas for the car. Drive in, and holler fill her up. And perhaps often than once in five times we hit a bad one. We would raise a pretty row if we got a bad tankful of gas.

In one of our largest cities the other evening I entered an attractive-looking restaurant which advertised sea food prominently on its facade.

I ordered a shrimp salad. When it came, it was a most imposing spectacle. You might think an advertising agency had designed it. It looked like a shrimp salad out of the color pages of one of the slick magazines.

It consisted of a great crisp haystack of finely shredded cabbage and lettuce, a compact scoop of potato salad, long fingers of carrots, a chaste chiseled dill pickle, Greek cornices of lettuce, and pecky-weeky in the middle, five miserable, covering little shrimps. Like a fool, I ate it.

Another 'First'

THE ENGLISH Electric P. 1, Britain's first fully supersonic interceptor fighter, made its first flight from the Ministry of Supply experimental establishment at Boscombe Down this month.

On its first flight the P. 1 was flown by Wing Commander Beaumont, English Electric's chief test pilot. The flight of the P. 1 is significant in that it opens up a new era in British aviation. The English Electric fighter is the first British aircraft which has been designed to be fully supersonic in level flight.

The P. 1 is powered by two Armstrong-Siddeley Sapphire jet engines. An order for a pre-production series of 20 aircraft has already been placed by the Ministry of Supply, and this will result in a significant acceleration of the test program, by allowing various tests to be carried out simultaneously.

When the under-secretary of state for air announced the pre-production order in the House of Commons, he said: "... It is most important that this aircraft should reach the Royal Air Force at the earliest possible date, and that the disappointment and delays that have hitherto beset us should, as far as possible, be avoided."

As the P. 1 is built by the same company which produced the Canberra jet bomber, it is not unduly optimistic to hope that it will prove to be one of the world's most advanced fighters. It will be recalled that the Canberra was the first foreign jet bomber ever to be adopted for the USAF, and that it still holds the world record in its class for the Atlantic crossing. Its average speed between Gander, Newfoundland, and Aldergrove, Northern Ireland, was 655 mph on its record-breaking flight.

The design of the P. 1, which is perhaps the most advanced aircraft of its kind in the world, required the use of the most modern test equipment. This equipment was designed and constructed by the company and included a transonic wind tunnel, which was the first of its kind to be built in England. These test facilities played a large part in the design of the aircraft from its earliest stages and will be of equal importance in its future development.

With the Classics

(From "The Poets")

Bards of Passion and of Mirth,
Ye have left your souls on earth!
Have ye souls in heaven too,
Doubtless in regions new?
Yes, and those in heaven commune
With the spheres of sun and moon;
With the noise of fountains wondrous
And the parle of voices thund'rous;
With the whisper of heaven's trees
And one another, in soft ease
Seated on Elysian lawns.

Vancouver Hospitals Need 600 More Beds by 1971

A BCHIS survey of Mainland acute care hospital facilities revealed that the province's health services are in a state of emergency. The survey showed that the province's health services are in a state of emergency. The survey showed that the province's health services are in a state of emergency.

The survey covered the Fraser Valley and Lower Mainland area. A similar survey may be made of Vancouver Island in the near future.

BIG INCREASE

The report showed, for example, that Vancouver must increase its available hospital beds from its present 2,327 to 2,900 by 1971. By the same year 420 bassinets will be needed, compared with the present 364.

Mr. Martin emphasized that "local hospital autonomy" was important and must be preserved. He said the BCHIS report was for guidance of future building as the province pays 50 per cent of construction costs and one-third of equipment costs.

PRIORITIES SET

Main purpose of the survey, officials say, is to see that expansion takes place in the areas where it is most needed. Priorities are given to the various recommendations throughout the report.

Researchers recommend, for example, that New Westminster's St. Mary's Hospital be replaced and the new building have space for 176 beds. It is recommended that Burnaby General Hospital be expanded.

At the same time the report points out that certain areas which may have contemplated building new hospital facilities won't need them. Officials say no hospital construction is needed at Agassiz as the new Agassiz-Rosedale bridge will give speedy access to Chilliwack's hospital, where expansion is recommended.

It is also recommended that the North Vancouver General Hospital be increased to 250 beds and 55 bassinets.

BEST SOLUTION

"The recommendations and priorities... represent... the easiest and most economical solution to the problem of hospital overcrowding which exists in this area today," the report says.

Last Rites Held Here For J. Hamer

Last rites were held in McCall's Funeral Home yesterday for John Hugh Hamer, 59, of 650 Admirals Road, a resident of Victoria for 11 years, who died Thursday.

Mr. Hamer, a veteran of the First World War, was a member of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans and of the Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion.

Survivors include his widow, Lily; one daughter, Mrs. W. Hudson, Victoria; three sons, John and Herbert, Victoria, and Kenneth, Calgary; his mother, Mrs. J. H. Hamer, Cheshire, England; three grandchildren; two brothers, Robert, Hamilton, Ont., and Thomas, in England, and one sister, Mary, in England.

Padre D. G. Kendall officiated at the services, which were followed by burial at Royal Oak.

Dr. Ivan Tchaperoff, City Radiologist, Dies

An authority in radiology, Dr. Ivan C. Tchaperoff, head of the X-ray department of St. Joseph's Hospital here for the past eight years, died suddenly at his home, 2475 Sinclair, Sunday. He was 50 years of age.

Dr. Tchaperoff set up the modern X-ray department at St. Joseph's.

English-born, with his medical degree from Cambridge University, he was at St. Thomas Hospital of London during his early days as a physician.

ON RESEARCH TEAM It was during his years in England that he published an authoritative work on cancer research and was named, by the Earl of Athlone, as one of a team to undertake further study.

Many Friends Attend Rites For Bob Milne

More than 100 friends of the late Robert Alexander Milne, a staff member of the Victoria Colonist for the past 47 years, gathered at McCall's Chapel yesterday to pay their last respects.

Mr. Milne, a native son of Victoria, died Thursday after a brief illness.

Services yesterday were conducted by Rev. Canon George Blidde and pallbearers were Robert Thompson, E. Gallop, George Davis, L. Turnbull, R. Millburn and W. N. Grier.

Mr. Milne is survived by two brothers, Reginald and Fred, a sister, Mrs. J. M. Morrison, five nephews and nieces, and eight grandnephews and grandnieces. He was 62.

Judgment Due Friday in Liquor Case

Judgment will be given Friday in the case of Alvin Carruthers, charged with keeping liquor for sale.

Sgt. S. T. Holmes testified at Carruthers' trial in police court yesterday that while in the accused's room Carruthers said: "You cops aren't smart enough to catch me for bootlegging, there isn't enough here."

Carruthers said he "knew the score" because he had been "hustling" long before he came to Victoria, Sergeant Holmes said.

Carruthers was summoned by police after they went to his room in the Eastern Hotel, 350 Johnson, at about 4:45 a.m., August 8. Carruthers earlier had been requested to leave a Flanagan Street address.

The accused invited Const. K. Hollet and Sergeant Holmes into his room after being asked where it was, the sergeant testified.

They saw two bottles of rye whiskey in the room. Two dozen bottles of beer were found under the bed and three 12-ounce bottles of gin in a dresser drawer.

The seldom-used sentence of consecutive jail terms was imposed on Earl E. Erickson, 33, a minor, as the alternative to two $50 fines in city court yesterday.

Erickson pleaded guilty to supplying beer to an Indian woman and also pleaded guilty to being in possession of liquor. Each charge cost him $50 or seven days before Magistrate A. L. Thomas.

S. R. Hale, 640 Bolton, was fined $200 or 30 days in jail in

Bombers, Roughies Eke Out Victories Over Esks, Stamps

HOW THEY STAND

W	L	PP	PA	Pts
Winnipeg	2	0	24	4
Saskatchewan	2	0	22	4
Edmonton	2	0	16	4
Calgary	2	0	13	4

Last night's scores: Edmonton 3 at Winnipeg 1, Calgary 3 at Regina 11.

Winnipeg and Saskatchewan took an early grip on first place in the Western Interprovincial Football Union last night with the Blue Bombers edging Edmonton Eskimos, 7-3, at Winnipeg, and the Roughriders dumping Calgary Stampede, 11-7, at Regina.

It was the second straight victory for both clubs and moved them four points ahead of the winless Edmonton and Calgary squads. The B.C. Lions, fifth team in the loop, make their debut Saturday night when they host Winnipeg.

The punting of quarterback Larry Isbell provided the victory margin for the Roughriders. The Baylor University grad who deserted a Boston Red Sox baseball job to line up with Riders, accounted for five points with a series of booming kicks which time and again sailed over the heads of the Calgary safety men.

NEAR-RECORD PUNTING
Altogether, he punted 11 times for an average of 35.5 yards, just two yards short of the league record.

Isbell showed up demoralized in the first quarter except for his outstanding kicks. He had three of his four passes intercepted and couldn't get his plays along the ground working. The Riders pass defence wasn't clicking either and Calgary, the team picked as the favorite to succeed Edmonton as conference champions, held a 7-2 edge at half-time.

But the Riders were a changed team when they came out for the second half. Isbell marched them through four first downs before Bobby Marlow, University of Alabama fullback, pushed over from the one-yard line. Joe Aguirre's convert was good to make it 8-7 and Isbell took over from there.

TOUCHDOWN RUN

Rupe Andrews, 27-year-old halfback from Stanford University, counted for Stampede on a 47-yard run in the second quarter and Glen Christian converted. The other point came on a kick to the deadline by Keith Spait.

Calgary coach Larry Stemmering didn't dress quarterback Eddie LeBaron, the Washington Redskins ace. This was the last game before he must reduce his import quota to 10, and he elected to give the American players who sat out Saturday's game a chance to see action.

At Winnipeg, a crowd of 17,385 fans watched the Blue Bombers hang on under devastating punishment of an all-but-one-man team. The Bombers led throughout the entire route, taking a 6-0 margin in the first quarter and moving into a 7-3 lead at half-time.

MILES LEAD ESKS

However, the statistics and the action told a dramatically different story as amazing Rolfe Miles led the crippled, travel-weary Eskimos in an almost unbelievable uphill struggle that had the Bombers hanging on the ropes throughout the greater part of the game.

Miles, the former North Carolina speedster, made it into a game. He passed, ran and punted Esks through the Winnipeg defenses with regularity.

Forced to move out of his regular fullback spot and take over quarterback duties when Claude Arnold was injured in the first quarter, Miles completed 16 of 33 pass attempts for 221 yards and led his team to 17 first downs and 101 yards along the ground. Winnipeg picked up nine first downs, 69 yards rushing and 65 yards through the air.

JACOBS RUSHED
Winnipeg quarterback Jack Jacobs, who was rushed time and again by a hard-charging Eskimo front wall, completed only six of 19 passes. Joe Zaleski, who relieved the Indian in the last quarter, kept the club along the ground.

The big difference was on a defensive level. The Eskimos failed to intercept any Winnipeg passes, while the Bomber defenders snared four Edmonton aerial threats that appeared headed for long gains.

The Eskimos, playing their fifth game in 10 days and with Jackie Parker, Bernie Eklund, Rod Pantangas, Normie Kwong and Mike King all out with injuries, received another setback when Arnold and all-star tackle Leon Manley were injured. Manley suffered a broken arm and will be out for the season.

Jacobs sneaked over from the two-yard line in the first quarter and Bud Korchak booted the convert and added a second-quarter single on a rouse. Bob Dean, import tackle from Maryland and Washington Redskins, kicked a field goal for Esks' three points early in the second quarter.

WORKOUT SET
Esquimalt of the Victoria and District Football Association's Division I will hold a workout at Esquimalt Athletic Hall Wednesday night at 7 p.m. All last year's players and others interested are invited to attend.

Arrows' Win Prolongs Final

Arrow Furniture, all but counted out of the lower Island senior "A" men's softball final after dropping the first three games of the best-of-seven series, stayed in contention for the title by pouncing out a 7-5 decision over Cec Fletcher at Royal Athletic Park last night.

Fifth game of the series is scheduled at Athletic Park tonight, starting at 7:15.

Arrows, who were forced to turn back a determined rally by Fletcher's in the ninth inning, gained their winning margin with a three-run surge in the bottom of the eighth.

WALKS START IT

Bill Benn and pitcher Archie Sluggert drew walks to lead off the eighth and Hal Yardley followed with a hunt single. Pitcher Abe Wiebe's throw on Yardley's hit got away from first baseman Chick Newman, allowing Benn to score and the other runners to move to second and third. Sluggert scored on George Brown's infield out and Yardley rode home on John Furmston's single to give Arrows a 7-2 lead.

Fletcher's ninth-inning outburst, started after two were out, elicited for three runs. Flori Goegan, Les Wilson and Tim Walker connected for clean singles and all three runners scored as Furmston misplayed Walker's drive to right field. However, Bud Ross came on for Sluggert and got Newman on a ground ball to end the uprising.

Arrows scored twice in the second inning and added another pair of tallies in the fifth. Fletcher scored twice in the top of the fifth when Vern Evans, who continued his torrid hitting with three hits in five trips, smashed a long, two-run homer.

MANAGER EJECTED
Gar Taylor, manager of the Furmstoners, was ejected from the game in the fifth frame after tangling with catcher Wilson in a mix-up at home plate.

In a pre-game ceremony, Dave Lowe, who captured the league batting title with a mark of .391, was presented with the Victoria Roofing Trophy by Taylor.

Fisherman's Luck Strikes Bob Earl In Derby Fish-Off

Bob Earl of Babington Lane, Brentwood, who gained the final fish-off of the annual Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby only because other anglers neglected to claim their tickets, couldn't have picked a better time to reel in the largest salmon of his angling career.

Competing in the derby final Sunday, Earl, whose biggest previous salmon was a seven-pounder and who finally made the fish-off in the first "pick-up" of tickets with a three-and-one-quarter-pound catch, subdued a 39-pound, two-ounce spring off the western tip of Senanus Island to top easily the 504 anglers who started out in quest of derby prizes.

Blanketed through almost seven hours of fishing, Earl tied on a battered 5½ silver wonder spoon shortly before 1 p.m. and had scarcely unwired 250 feet of line when the big one hit. Worried lest the rust-weakened hook on the lure he hadn't used for two years would give way, he had a 45-minute battle on his hands before bringing the inlet's biggest fish of the year to gaff.

Until Earl hung his luncheon on the scales at 2 p.m., it appeared

JIM KONSTANTY

Named the most valuable player in the National League in 1950, 37-year-old righthander Jim Konstanty Sunday was purchased by the New York Yankees from Philadelphia Phillies in straight cash deal. Konstanty, who worked in 74 games in 1950 and had a 23 record with the Phillies this season, was waived by seven National League clubs and the six below New York in the American League.

Native Dancer Ends Great Racing Career

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. May 15, had showed up again (UP)—Native Dancer, the great "Grey Ghost of Sagamore" who captivated millions of racing fans and television viewers as he won all his races except the Kentucky Derby, will race no more.

Owner Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Jr., announced that he had decided to retire the champion after his fourth year-old colt because of a recurrence of a bruise on his right front leg.

"There appears to be no choice but to retire him from racing," said Vanderbilt. "He will not race again and will enter the stud at Sagamore Farm in Maryland next spring."

SHOWED UP SUNDAY
Vanderbilt disclosed that the leg injury, which was first noticed after the Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont Park on

Former Champs Ousted

DETROIT (CP)—Harvie Ward Jr. of San Francisco, fresh from his victory Saturday in the Canadian amateur golf championship, defeated Hord Hardin of St. Louis 4 and 3 in the opening round of the United States amateur Monday.

Two Canadian entrants, Doug Silverburg of Red Deer, Alta., and Don Doe of Granby, Que., drew first-round byes.

Four former champions fell by the wayside in the 72 matches over the long and taxing country club of Detroit. They were Sam Uzzetta of Rochester, N.Y., 1950 champion; Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, 1949; Ted Bishop of Weston, Mass., 1946; and 64-year-old Charles (Chick) Evans of Chicago, 1916-20.

MEETING TONIGHT
Wood Motors senior football club will hold a special meeting at 7:30 tonight at the Knights of Pythias Hall, Cormorant Street. All last year's players are urged to attend the important meeting.

Farmers, Powell River Split in Island Playoff

Victoria's Farmer Construction and Powell River Rodmays broke even at Powell River Sunday in the first two games of a best-of-five series to name a finalist in the Vancouver Island senior amateur baseball championship playoff.

Rodmays, winners of the up Island Amateur Baseball League title, blanked the Victorians, 2-0, behind the six-hit pitching of Art Somerville in the first game and Farmers, Vancouver Island league champions, came back to score a 5-3 triumph in the nightcap.

GARNER LOSES
Southpaw Bill Garner, hampered by three errors, yielded nine hits as he went the route for Farmers in the opener while his batterymate, Jim Harford, smashed out three hits to pace the losers' six-hit attack.

In the second game, Farmers connected for 11 hits while Don Donahue and Garner, who came on in the eighth after Donahue had hit two successive batters, doled out three hits as their mates came up with a fine defensive performance.

Farmers' only error of the contest helped Powell River to three runs in the fourth inning, but the Victorians came from behind in the seventh with a three-run rally, highlighted by pinch-hitter Lowell Hodges' two-run single.

PLAY HERE SATURDAY
The series resumes at Royal Athletic Park Saturday, with the winner advancing to the Island final against either Chemainus or Nanaimo, who are playing off for the mid-Island crown. The winner of that series will clash with Kerrisdale for the provincial championship.

Lineup:
First Game—

Australia Wins Canada Cup From Argentina

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que. (CP)—Peter Thomson and Kevin Nagle of Australia trimmed nine strokes off par in a blazing final round Sunday to win the Canada Cup by four strokes over defending champion Argentina.

The youthful Aussie team of Thomson and Nagle wound up the 72 holes with 556, 20 strokes under par. Nagle had a 69 on his final round.

Australia started the last 18 holes two strokes behind Argentina. But there was no denying the 24-year-old Thomson and his unheralded partner.

Thomson ripped around the first nine holes in a five-under-par 31 while Nagle carded a 34. When Tony Cerda of Argentina fired an eagle three on the 315-yard 10th hole, Thomson matched him. He faltered with a two-over-par five on the 17th hole but Nagle sewed up the match with a birdie on the 18th hole.

The United States team of Jimmy Demaret and Sam Snead, the pre-tournament favorite, finished third with 656, nine strokes behind Australia. Canada wound up fourth at 570, with Stan Leonard of Vancouver grabbing off low-medal honors with 275, 13 strokes under par.

Huot did little to protect his course record during the matches. He posted a 73 and a 72 Sunday after a pair of 75s Friday and Saturday. Leonard kept up his steady play with 70, his fourth under-par round.

The long-hitting Vancouver pro wound up with 275, two strokes ahead of both Cerda and Thomson.

Inquest Told How Boy, 19, Came To Die

DUNCAN—A visit to his fellow workmen at the booming grounds at Cowichan Bay on his day off, combined with a natural tendency to hurry, were held to have led to the death of a 19-year-old logger whose panel truck careened over the side of the wharf at Cowichan Bay last Friday.

The evidence of several witnesses at the inquest here Monday night was that James Roger Greenway, of Duncan, was "naturally very impulsive in what he did and tackled every task with an urge to get it done immediately and to get it over with."

His employer, Wes C. White, said that Greenway, in his employment in the woods, was "drastic in action... everything had to be done with power and impulse," and added that Greenway had been warned about this tendency.

Mr. White, an independent logger, gave this evidence in reply to a juror's question to explain why the young man had driven his panel truck backward on the wharf at what had been described by other witnesses as "at a good clip."

Mr. White's explanation for the truck being driven backward was that there was no room at the head of the wharf to turn around because of a gathering of workers and fishermen.

The evidence of an eye-witness, John Low, a young student, was that the truck had ridden onto the guard rail at both sides of the wharf a couple of times before the fatal plunge.

His estimate of the speed was that "the truck had been driven as far as it could be driven in reverse."

Dr. R. A. C. Swan said death was due to asphyxiation through drownings and the inquest jury returned a verdict of "accidental death."

Tyees Come by Ton At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI — Keenest competition in local history is on among sports fishermen here, with the week's tyee catch well over the total of 2,216 pounds weighed in the previous week.

A 53½-pounder topped the list, biggest yet for the season.

M.M. MacLean, Popular Piper, Dies Suddenly

PORT ALBERNI — Death took one of Alberni Valley's well known citizens, Murdoch MacLean, Saturday.

Mr. MacLean, 42, collapsed in the evening and was revived by Port Alberni volunteer fire department intubator team, but died shortly after admittance to West Coast General Hospital.

Born on the Isle of Skye, he came to Port Alberni in 1932. Mr. MacLean was employed by the National Utilities here until the outbreak of the Second World War when he joined the Rocky Mountain Rangers. He also served with the Canadian Scottish pipe band, later transferring to the Highland Light Infantry and serving as pipe major overseas.

After the war he worked for the B.C. Power Commission here.

Mr. MacLean was pipe major for Canadian Legion Branch 55, and had trained the Valleyettes pipe band.

Fifty-Pound Salmon Hooked by Dorsal Fin

Archie Doherty of 3925 Glenford Avenue didn't hook his catch in the orthodox manner but he still came home with one of the largest salmon taken off Comox this summer.

Trotting with a herring dodger and minnow Saturday, Doherty tangled with a 50-pound tyee, which apparently struck at the dodger and was hooked by the rear dorsal fin and landed after a tough struggle.

PARKSVILLE — Week-end reports from French Creek fishing camp show that the springs are still biting in adjacent waters and the Mac Squid and Rex Field plugs are popular lures.

Several fish weighed in at more than 30 pounds and there were quite a number around 15 and 20 pounds. Some good-sized coho are also being caught on bucktail flies, plugs and spoons.

Visitors from many points in the United States and Canada have been flocking to the boat basin during the past week and there are more local fishermen than in previous seasons.

Even with the new floats there is scarcely enough room for all the boats.

Cigarettes Stolen By Arena Burglars

DUNCAN—An undetermined quantity of cigarettes was stolen from the Cowichan Arena during the week end, when thieves entered through an insecure window in the engine room of the ice plant.

Arena manager Larry Marshall discovered the burglary Sunday. He said that apparently the thieves knew exactly what they were after and where the cigarettes were kept. An iron bar used to break the lock on the cigarette cupboard was left on the floor. Cigarettes were not touched, nor was the cupboard containing chocolate bars.

"They took their time at the job," he commented. "They even took time out to drink some pop."

PARKSVILLE—An extraordinary meeting of Parksville Players' Drama Club will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. Pat Smith, at 8 p.m. Wednesday. Many important items are on the agenda.

Well-Known Guide Dies

CAMPBELL RIVER—David C. McDonald, well-known registered guide for 30 years at Campbell River, died in his sleep Friday in his 78th year.

He is survived by one son, Leslie, and one grandchild.

He came to Campbell River more than 30 years ago and has guided in famous tyee grounds most of that time. He was known to sports fishermen who have come to Campbell River from all over the world.

Rev. C. L. Straight conducted funeral services Monday. Pallbearers were all old-time residents of town, and many visiting sports fishermen attended.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Rev. C. L. Straight, new United Church minister here since August, was officially welcomed Sunday. There was musical entertainment from the choir, with Roy Sawyer, saxophonist. Mrs. D. Campbell and Mrs. B. Glenn at the piano.

A large car rug was also presented to Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Wolstenholme, who are leaving the district. In recognition of their enthusiastic work for the church.

City Boy Survives Tumble On Peak; Skull Fractured

Fifteen-year-old Hugh Ney, 2756 Thompson, is in "satisfactory" condition in hospital here after a 400-foot tumble down Mount Arrowsmith's steep flank.

Ney sustained a fractured skull, apparently from striking the snow.

His companions, Ronald Wickstrom, 19, 1812 Shakespear, and Ronald Hudspeth, Seattle Pacific College student, rendered shock treatment at the scene and then made a 7½-mile trek in 5½ hours to their car, followed by a fast journey to the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Wickstrom described the Saturday accident.

"He apparently slipped on ice on a snowfield, just below the summit."

"He slid about 400 feet—we distance—but he didn't lose consciousness."

"I was below him and heard his shout and saw him coming. He missed two rock ribs and the third clipped his head," he said.

"I made a dive for him and caught one pant leg, slowing him down."

Ney stopped sliding soon after and raised himself on his elbows. "Wow, what a goose egg on my head" were his first words, said Wickstrom.

They began their trek to the car then, hiking over three peaks on the long return journey. Ney walked well and spoke of no great pain.

City Girls Win Honors

Karen Dickson of 2515 Beach Drive has been awarded the British Columbia silver medal for Grade 5 piano in the Royal Toronto Conservatory of Music examinations.

She also won a $25 Frederick Harris scholarship, awarded to the holder of highest marks in any division.

Miss Dickson is a pupil of Novel A. M. Smith.

A Frederick Harris scholarship was also gained by one of three local violinists awarded silver medals in the examinations.

Wendy Giers of 944 Oakland won her medal and scholarship in Grade 7 competition.

Winner of Grade 3 medal was Audrey Peck, 3232 Wicklow, while Grade 2 honors went to Elizabeth Jane Ritchie of 289 Kerswood.

A few dollars from pinball machines was the only lot of thieves who were unable to open the Canadian Legion Britannia Branch safe for weekend receipts.

Entry to the building was gained through a rear window and an inside office door was forced open.

Police were called and a search was made for the loot.

Rain Delays 'Good-Citizen' Day

Presentation of Victoria's "Good Citizen" award of 1954 has been postponed until next Sunday at 3 p.m. The ceremony was rained out at the Beacon Hill Park concert last Sunday, Native Sons of B.C. Victoria Post, officers said.

They still have not disclosed the name of their selection for the annual award.

The Victoria Public Library Board meets today at 2:30 p.m. in the music room at the library.

Four plate-glass windows and a small rear window were broken at Nu-Way Cleaners Ltd., William Street, during the week end. The small window apparently was broken by about a dozen rocks, police said.

For the first time in 10 years of continuous playing, W. S. Fawcett, 1081 Burdett, won the limit hand last night.

He was playing with an old friend and competitor, Herbert Vise, 1846 Kings Road, when he dealt three fives at the jack of hearts. The best five was 20.

Many a night has passed since he learned the game during the First World War.

Youngsters Help Solarium Fund

Enthusiastic workers for Queen Alexandra Solarium are Richard Bradley, 10 of 901 McKenzie, and six-year-old Debbie Doherty, 4020 Saanich Road. Yesterday they handed in $5.36 for the fund, the total in a house-to-house collection in their neighborhood. The children have made voluntary contributions in the past and Richard states, "We intend to make another in a few days from different houses."

Police Probe Theft

Esquimalt police called in city police late last night, a few hours after discovery of the theft of cash, cigarettes and beer from the Esquimalt branch of the Canadian Legion, on Admirals Road.

No reason for the conference was given.

The Esquimalt force said thieves apparently broke into the Legion building early yesterday, although the entry was not discovered until 7:25 p.m. when an unidentified bartender arrived to open the building for the evening.

WINDOW USED

It was believed the thieves entered through a back window causing some damage.

Police said a small amount of cash and some cigarettes and beer were taken but further details were withheld until today pending a complete investigation.

The building does not contain a safe and reports said the money was taken from a cash drawer.

The Legion was not opened to members last night as a result of the theft.

Giant Aluminum Plant Possible Kitimat Rival

BY RAY BAINES
Colonist Legislative Reporter

A second giant aluminum project rivaling Alcan's Kitimat development may be built in northern B.C. by Reynolds Metals Co. of New York.

The plant, which could be situated at Tisdale, on Lake Fraser, would use power from British Columbia Hydroelectric project in the Atlin Lake area. Reynolds may either buy the power from British Columbia Hydro or be directly associated with the Canadian company.

Mr. Reynolds is vice-president of Reynolds Metals Co., which saw the project through the past year. He added that no decision would be reached on the plan until after considerable study of all aspects.

Mr. Reynolds said his company was approached by Fraser Industries, president of British Columbia, on a possible association with the northern project. He said talks have been in progress for a month.

It was too early, Mr. Reynolds said, to say whether the Reynolds company would be associated with Fraser Industries, which would develop the power from the Atlin Lake area, or whether it would be a separate project.

Mr. Reynolds said findings of the study would be assessed by his company, and the next step would be to ask the British Columbia government for a possible association with the northern project.

He said that the project would be a major development in the aluminum industry in British Columbia.

Legal Action Threatened On Machinery Tax Forms

It may be necessary to take legal action to force some firms to file machinery tax forms, the city official said yesterday.

Reports of the forms is required under the provincial government's machinery tax act.

Some 200 local firms still have not filed forms sent to them through the city assessor-collector's office.

An estimated 500 forms are being completed and have been returned by other firms.

The provincial government plans to tax business and commercial machinery for school purposes, next year.

Business assessments must be completed this year. Only established businesses having a tax value of $1,000 or more are required to file.

One city official said most businesses are complying with the law, but some of the smaller firms appear to have an aversion to returning the declaration forms for fear they will be taxed.

"The majority of these small firms will be exempt," he said, "under the $1,000 minimum provision."

Accidents Take Heavy Toll In British Columbia Centres

BY BRITISH UNITED PRESS

An elderly Vancouver woman and her grandson died after a two-car collision near Surrey, competing near Ladner, and a logger died of injuries during the week end in British Columbia.

Curtis A. Maben, 37, of Seattle died Saturday after his small racing car shot off the track and crashed through a barrier at Patterson Park. His wife and two children witnessed the fatal accident.

Mrs. Mabel Mackay, 70, died in hospital Sunday night. Her 17-year-old grandson, Donald Mackay, died instantly Saturday night in a head-on collision near Surrey.

Squamish died of head injuries after a log rolled on him while working at the H. and W. camp 15 miles north of Squamish.

A delayed report from Revelstoke said mountain climber Edward Stahler of Syracuse, N.Y., 20-year-old university student, died last Wednesday in an avalanche on Mount Fox.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A 500-pound sack containing nearly $3,000 was stolen from the Eagles Club here during the week end.

Club manager William McRum said the heavy sack was dragged 50 feet across the bar-room, down a steep flight of stairs, and apparently was hauled away by a truck.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Body of Dr. Ernest A. Campbell, 53, one of three victims of a boating accident last Thursday, was recovered in the Gulf of Georgia Monday.

A helicopter located the body of the New Westminster psychiatrist near Point Roberts, Wash., where he maintained a summer home.

Canada Falls Out of Race For Davis Cup

MEXICO CITY (CP)—Mexico's Davis Cup team swept Canada into the discard Sunday by winning the final two singles matches for a 4-1 edge in their second-round meeting in the North American zone.

A spirited battle by Canada's No. 1 player, Lorne Main of Toronto, threatened to prolong the series as he fought Mexican national champion Gustavo Palafox through five sets before bowing 8-6, 3-6, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4 in Sunday's first and deciding match.

With the result no longer in doubt, Paul Willey of Vancouver substituted for the ailing Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., and bowled to Mexico's Mario Llamas, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4.

Main and team captain Brendan Macken of Montreal salvaged Canada's lone victory, defeating Francisco Guerrero Arcocha and Francisco Pancho Contreras, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2.

Garry Lawrence allowed only three hits in the opening game as his mates pounded out a 20-3 victory. Victoria made it two in a row by thumping Port Alberni 14-5, in the second contest behind the three-hit pitching of Dave Emery.

Lawrence and Emery were also the top hitters, Lawrence smashing a homer and two singles in the opening game and Emery collecting three hits in the second contest.

Van Fletcher Joins Tigers

SEATTLE (AP)—Vanoide (Van) Fletcher, ace relief pitcher of the Pacific Coast League Seattle Rainiers, has been traded to Detroit for two players and cash, general manager Dewey Soriano said Saturday.

Fletcher, at present recovering from injuries suffered in an automobile accident—is to report to the Tigers as soon as possible after September 1.

Soriano said. He was bruised and lost several teeth in the accident but is expected to be back in action next week.

Landy Records Get Approval

BERNE, Switzerland (UP)—The International Amateur Athletics Federation Saturday recognized 29 world records, including Australian John Landy's 3:58 "dream mile" and the controversial javelin mark of R.14 metres (263 feet, 10 inches) by Bud Held, former Stanford star.

The list also included the 1,500-meter time of 3:41.8, which Landy clocked during his fabulous mile run June 21 at Turku, Finland.

Argentine Driver World Champion

BERNE, Switzerland (UP)—Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina has clinched his second world automobile racing championship.

The Argentine speedster, who won his first crown three years ago, clinched the 1954 title Sunday when he won the Grand Prix of Switzerland for his fifth victory in seven world title races this year.

The 35-year-old Fangio, driving a German Mercedes, covered the 288 miles at an average of 95.7 miles an hour and also had the fastest lap, 98.4.

Frank Holt Rites Held

Funeral services were held in McCall's Funeral Home yesterday afternoon for Frank Holt, 80, of 3055 Albina Street, a resident of Victoria for eight years, who died Thursday.

Mr. Holt, a native of Whitby, Ont., was employed by the Massey-Harris Company at Toronto for 47 years, and was a member of the Canadian Order and Independent Order of Foresters.

He leaves his widow, Eva Anne; two daughters, Mrs. Ray Armitage, Toronto, and Mrs. T. R. Carter, Aurora, Ont., at present in Victoria; one son, Howard, Toronto; five grandchildren; one great-grandchild.

Rev. T. H. McAllister officiated at the services, which were followed by burial at Royal Oak.

Funeral Held For Air Cadet

Funeral services for 17-year-old Kenneth Ferdinand Joseph Huot, former Victoria resident, were held last week in Regina, according to word received here during the week end.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huot, Kenneth lived in Victoria from 1943 to 1952, when he left for the Yukon with his parents.

He had recently joined the Air Cadets and was attending camp at Abbotsford, B.C., when he was taken ill. He was subsequently sent to Edmonton, where he died.

WINS WORLD TITLE

SOLINGEN, Germany (AP)—Louis Bobet of France won the world's professional bicycle road racing championship Sunday in a gruelling 240-kilometre (150 miles) race on the rain-swept Klingenberg course here.

Duchess' Charm, Poise Win Hearts in Quebec

QUEBEC (CP) — The six new veterans' hospital at dealt with how the regulations will spoil 17-year-old Alex's life.

Princess Alexandra remained at the Citadel and played tennis. In London, the outspoken Daily Mirror flayed Canadian authorities for "making a hash of the visit of the duchess and Princess Alexandra by imposing strict 'Victorian' security regulations."

The tall, handsome duchess and her daughter, 17-year-old Princess Alexandra, called on Premier Duplessis at the Legislative Buildings and visited city hall.

On the first day of a four-day stay in this old-world capital with the stamp of 18th-century France, the duchess sipped champagne with guests at a private reception in a Louis-XV style salon at the legislature. The princess joined the 64-year-old premier and drank orange juice. Mr. Duplessis' favorite drink.

In perfect French, the duchess' first speech at the city hall revealed the 1941 visit of the late Duke of Kent, who died in an airplane accident in England in 1942.

She said the duke was so enthusiastic about his Canadian visit she feels "already familiar with Canada."

The duchess toured the mas-

CITY MAN'S DARING BREAK TOUCHES OFF BIG MANHUNT

Last EDC Try Made by Pinay

PARIS (UP)—Former premier Antoine Pinay launched an eleventh-hour attempt last night to save the European Defense Community treaty by proposing that France agree to join in the pact on an 18-month trial basis.

Pinay, who is rated as the most likely candidate to succeed Premier Mendes-France if the present government falls on a vote of confidence over EDC, was reported to have American support for his plan, which he outlined at a midnight news conference.

"It is time to ratify, in our turn, the Treaty of Paris," he said, "after having tried once

Limited Influx Urged

REGINA (CP)—Canada will suffer from economic "indigestion" if more immigrants are admitted than industry can absorb, Carl E. Berg of Edmonton, a vice-president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said Monday.

Mr. Berg said the rate of immigration should be closely integrated with the labor situation and the two federal labor and immigration departments "tied together."

In this way immigrants would be limited to the number which could be made into "good Canadians," he said.

again—before the assembly debate if possible—for a final consultation with our allies.

"Such consultation would have as its object to ask them to agree to a probationary period for the application of the treaty."

"I would define this period as follows: A transitional period of 18 months called for in Article 10 of the military protocol should be considered a probationary period."

"At the end of this trial period, there would be called, on demand of one of the participating states, a conference which would have as its task to decide on the necessary modifications based on this experiment. The period of 18 months could then be extended," Pinay said.

At London, it was reported that Britain and France have agreed on the need for "early practical steps" to maintain Western unity despite the collapse of European army treaty negotiations in Brussels.

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France flew to England Monday and conferred urgently for five hours with Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden.

A brief statement issued before Mendes-France flew home said "a general discussion" was held on the unresolved differences at Brussels between France and the other five countries of the proposed European Defense Community.

'Thrill Killers' in Toils

Topping recent instances of teen-agers' crime are the "kill-for-thrill" charges brought against four Brooklyn, N.Y., youths. Police say two slayings and the horsewhipping of two girls have been admitted. Standing, from left, are Melvin Mittman, 17; Jerome Lieberman, 17; and Jack Kaslow, 18. Assistant District Attorney Lewis Cohen examines whip used on girls while stenographer takes notes.

Slag Blast Hits Mills

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—A slag explosion knocked out the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation's big steel mills here Monday night when molten metal ignited the roof of the plant's main power house.

The fire was brought under control about midnight and the mills were expected to begin rolling some time today. Officials declined to estimate the damage but said it would probably be heavy. There were no injuries.

Strike Faces Electric Firms

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Two major electrical contracting companies here are threatened today by a strike.

Six hundred members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers' Union voted 98 per cent Monday night in favor of a walkout following a deadlock in negotiations on a pension plan. The vote was 521-11. It was the first strike vote taken by a major union without government supervision under the new Labor Relations Act.

KLM Flight Held Up

LIMERICK, Ireland (AP)—A KLM airlines D-6 with 52 passengers aboard developed an oil leak while landing Monday night at Shannon Airport. The plane's take-off for New York was postponed.

Night Club Singer Freed

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Anita O'Day, night club singer, taken into custody here Friday by narcotics agents, was released Monday on a writ of habeas corpus.

By-Election Charge Made

OTTAWA (CP)—Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario CCF leader, charged Monday night at a nomination meeting that the Ontario government is contesting provincial by-elections on contributions from highway construction firms.

Mr. MacDonald, referring to investigations into the spending of Ontario money on highways as "the highway scandal," said the Progressive Conservative government of Premier Frost "is now fighting by-election campaigns financed, in good part at least, on contributions from highway construction firms."

Throned, Dethroned Cruise in Mediterranean

Touring Royalty Dines in Style

From Reuters and UP Dispatches

ATHENS—Fifteen pigs, roasted on spits over burning vine tree branches, were carried aboard the Greek luxury liner Agamemnon at Corfu Monday to be served at the first-Greek meal for 95 members of Europe's throned and dethroned Royal families on their Mediterranean tour.

The Greek island was the first stop made by the royal tourists, from Greece, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Holland and several European countries now republics. The party left Naples Sunday.

Former King Umberto of Italy joined the party with his family at Corfu after flying from Athens in a private plane owned by King Paul of Greece, host on the tour.

Next stop for the white liner on this all-royal cruise of the islands and archeological treasures of Greece is Katakalon—Olympia. The voyagers sailed from Corfu Monday night.

Most of the sailing will be done at night.

During the day the guests will visit places of interest, swim, dance and play games.

King Paul, the host, started the cruise with a bang when the destroyer that brought him and Queen Frederika to Naples crashed into a pier. Nobody was hurt and the king and queen laughed at their accident as they joined the other rulers and ex-rulers.

Among those absent was former King Farouk of Egypt. It was not known whether he had been invited. No members of the British Royal Family were aboard.

King Paul decreed informality as the theme of the pleasure cruise, suggesting that nobody wear uniform or formal dress, but made an exception in allowing his uncle, Prince George, to wear his admiral's uniform.

At dinner, King Paul announced, the men will be permitted to wear white shirts, black trousers and cummerbunds.

The women were admonished, however, not to wear bikini bathing suits or too-brief sun-suits at any time during the cruise.

Besides King Paul and Queen Frederika, the only reigning couple aboard were Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands.

Queen Juliana arrived shortly before noon Sunday with her husband aboard a U.S. Navy launch.

Former Italian King Umberto and other members of his family boarded the cruise ship at Corfu because he has been forbidden to set foot in Italy by a referendum which abolished the Italian monarchy after the war.

Among those aboard were Don Juan, pretender to the Spanish throne, and his wife Donna Maria de Bourbon; former King Michael of Romania and his wife; Prince Simon and Princess Maria Luisa of Bulgaria; Princess Margareta of Sweden; Prince Astrid of Denmark and the Grand Duke of Luxembourg.

A rich Greek shipowner who wanted to stimulate tourist interest in the Aegean Sea proposed the cruise and put up $28,000 to help finance it.

Longtime San Francisco residents, used to occasional tremors, described the "quake" as the "worst felt in more than four years."

Reports immediately poured into San Francisco from as far east as Reno, describing a strong shock that rattled windows.

There were no immediate reports of damage.

The "quake" started with a gentle rolling motion.

Reno residents reported the "quake" was rougher than the one which shook Fallon, Nev., causing widespread damage July 6.

A radio newscaster in San Francisco reported the building housing his broadcasting studio "shook like mad."

Quake Rolls California

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A strong rolling earthquake shook the San Francisco Bay area at 10:54 p.m. yesterday, causing downtown office buildings to roll "like a ship at sea."

In Sacramento, 100 miles north, the "quake" was called the strongest in four years.

Every available police officer in Vancouver, Burnaby, New Westminster and other points was immediately pressed into the search.

RCMP roadblocks have been set up on all major highways out of Vancouver.

Dawley was originally charged last March with assaulting a police officer at Dunsmuir. He was awaiting trial on two charges of car theft and one of possession of house-breaking tools in Nanaimo.

This request was refused by a Vancouver court, but witnesses in the Seattle crime were placed throughout the courtroom.

Hungarian Bishop Branded Informer

NEW YORK (UP)—A pastor who fled from Communist Hungary testified Monday that a Hungarian bishop attending the world council of churches meeting at Evanston, Ill., has been a Communist informer for years.

The Rev. Laszlo Vatai told a congressional investigating committee he "assumed" Bishop John Peter was sent by his government to the meeting to spy on other churchmen in the Hungarian delegation and report on their activities to the secret police.

Vatai said the other delegates were chosen to attend the meeting because of their willingness to collaborate with the Red Hungarian government, but officials apparently want to check up on them anyway.

ESCAPED FROM REDS

Vatai, speaking in broken English, told the House Committee on Communist aggression that he escaped from the Reds in 1947 and fled to the West. He now is pastor of the Hungarian reformed church at Buffalo, N.Y.

The witness said Peter, a bishop of the reformed church of Hungary, was an informer in Budapest for some time before 1947. He said he knew Peter in Hungary.

At Evanston, Bishop Peter said Monday he believes Christianity can "co-exist" with Communism.

Cement Plant For B.C.

By HARRY YOUNG

Colonist Business Editor

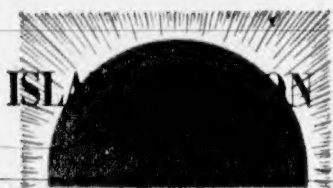

A second cement manufacturing plant is about to be built in British Columbia.

The installation will cost about $5,000,000 and will be situated in the Fraser Valley some 15 miles east of Chilliwack.

Ralph Chetwynd, minister of trade and industry, says that Texan interests are involved and that the plant is expected to begin production May 1.

It will employ between 60 and 100 people, and raw material will be obtained from B.C. deposits of limestone.

The only cement at present being made in B.C. is at the Ramerton works of B.C. Cement Co. on Vancouver Island.

Last Try Made On EDC

PARIS (UP)—Former Premier Antoine Pinay launched an eleventh-hour attempt last night to save the European Defense Community Treaty by proposing that France agree to join in the pact on an 18-month trial basis.

Pinay, who is rated as the most likely candidate to succeed Premier Mendes-France if the present government falls on a vote of confidence over EDC, was reported to have American support for his plan, which he outlined at a midnight news conference.

"It is time to ratify, in our turn, the Treaty of Paris," he said, "after having tried once again—before the assembly debate if possible—for a final consultation with our allies."

COULD BE EXTENDED

"Such consultation would have as its object to ask them to agree to a probationary period for the application of the treaty."

"I would define this period as follows: A transitional period of 18 months called for in Article 10 of the military protocol should be considered a probationary period."

"At the end of this trial period, there would be called, on demand of one of the participating states, a conference which would have as its task to decide on the necessary modifications based on this experiment. The period of 18 months could then be extended," Pinay said.

At London, it was reported that Britain and France have agreed on the need for "practical steps" to maintain Western unity despite the collapse of European army treaty negotiations in Brussels.

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France flew to London Monday and conferred urgently for five hours with Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden.

A brief statement issued before Mendes-France flew home said "a general discussion" was held on the unresolved differences at Brussels between France and the other five countries of the proposed European Defense Community.

At Evanston, Bishop Peter said Monday he believes Christianity can "co-exist" with Communism.

But he denied being a Communist or ever "informing" on other clergymen.

The bishop of the Hungarian Reformed Church submitted written answers to a group of questions drawn up by newsmen covering the World Council's second assembly.

Under terms of a restricted visa from the state department, Bishop Peter was forbidden to take part in one of the council's formal press conferences.

In England, a parish priest of the Church of England attacked the World Council of Churches for taking a "sick-room" approach to Communism.

"The World Council of Churches has never disturbed Communists and fellow travelers, and maybe it has never disturbed anyone," the Rev. Reginald C. Gaul said in his sermon Sunday.

"Right after I got there firemen arrive with one of those lung gadgets and tried to get in. They were very fast. But it was just no use."

For part of Sunday night the guard around the presidential palace where Vargas resides was doubled.

Wm. Minister Zenobio Costa was quoted as saying on the radio Monday the army is master of the situation. He appealed to the people not to be influenced by rumors and said the army will guarantee respect for the constitution.

Radio stations were operating under censorship which apparently was general. Federal police chief Paulo Torres said the control was imposed as a matter of national security.

Five Tots Burn

WATERVILLE, Me. (UP)—

A weeping father, his hands and face burned in a futile rescue attempt, stood helplessly by Monday while a flash fire swept his home and killed his five children, the oldest seven years old.

His earlier break was made March 8 when he leaped from an upper story window of Vancouver General Hospital. He had been taken to hospital from Oakalla—where he was serving a six-month term on the assault charge—after pleading a sick leave.

He was arrested in Montreal last July and returned to Vancouver, where he was given an extra six months for escaping.

Dawley, son of a former Esquimalt police chief, was a noted "badman" in this area during the early 1930s.

He was involved in a gun battle with Victoria police in 1932 and was later shot in the arm during a gun fight with San Francisco police.

When he was brought back from Montreal, FBI investigators asked that he be placed in

Behind Scenes Talks Reported

The following story was written for Associated Press by the correspondent for the London Daily Telegraph accompanying the British Labor Party group visiting Red China.

By JOHN RIDLEY

PEIPING (AP)—High-level talks on Far Eastern security are reported going on behind the scenes here among Britain's former prime minister Clement Attlee, Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, and Indian Ambassador Nedam Raghavan.

These talks are apart from numerous public functions for the visiting Labor party group headed by Attlee.

China is convinced Attlee will be the next British prime minister.

Peiping is said to have suggested to him that instead of the West's proposed South-East Asian Treaty Organization (SEATO), there should be a mutual non-aggression pact among China, Britain, France and the Colombo powers.

The five countries represented at the Colombo, Ceylon, conference this spring were India, Pakistan, Burma, Ceylon and Indonesia.

India, while agreeing with China that such a pact would be desirable, fears some of the more timid nations among the Colombo powers might not wish to sign such a binding undertaking and has suggested a series of bilateral pacts among these powers. The effect would be precisely the same.

It is obvious from the press that the Chinese government is thoroughly alarmed at the idea of SEATO and will endeavor at all costs to torpedo it.

Plane Crash in Sea Claims at Least 21

AMSTERDAM (AP)—A Royal Dutch KLM airliner with at least 21 persons aboard plunged into the North Sea off the murky Dutch coastline Monday only a few minutes away from its home airport. A KLM spokesman said it was feared there were no survivors among the 12 passengers and nine crew members aboard.

Crew members were Dutch except Canadian flight captain Charles Harman. Born in Edmonton in 1918, the one-time member of the RAF joined KLM in 1947.

KLM said he was a most able airman who last year was given the honor of flying KLM's first Super Constellation from New York to Amsterdam.

EXTRA FLIGHT

The airline said the four-engined Douglas DC-6B Willem Bontekne went down through the clouds less than 30 miles northwest of Amsterdam, its goal. The KLM office in New York said the plane was an extra because the earlier regular flight was booked up.

Burning wreckage, lifebelts, cushions, an oil stain and other flotsam marked the site of the crash.

The jet crashed into a farmer's field near this village 22 miles east of Toronto's airport after pilot Jan Zurekowski of Toronto bailed out at 2,000 feet.

The victim was identified by A. V. Roe Canada Ltd. officials as John Hiebert, 28, of Toronto, a flight test observer. Hiebert is survived by his widow in Toronto and parents in Winnipeg.

Zurekowski, Polish-born ace of the Battle of Britain in the Second World War and a test pilot for Avro, suffered a broken leg when he landed less than 300 yards from the jet's scattered wreckage. An ejection seat-parachute escape was credited with saving his life.

The jet was undergoing its first test since coming off the assembly line of Avro's Malton plant, 15 miles northwest of Toronto.
